

WILLIAMS-SONOMA

artisans' market

Join us at our La Cumbre Plaza location for our exclusive and exciting event that brings artisanal products right to your Williams-Sonoma store. Taste, learn and experience products firsthand from the producers themselves.

Saturday, March 9, from 12:00–4:00PM

Chapala Farms

Taste the sweet delights of handcrafted fruit preserves—and golden honey harvested from backyard bees. These artisan creations are from Jason Banks, a local chef who's now an urban farmer and beekeeper.

Chocolats du CaliBressan

Those of you already familiar with Le CaliBressan from France can now enjoy Chef Jean-Michel's delicious artisan chocolates created fresh locally. Everything is handmade using the finest ingredients—it is no wonder that he has fans all over the world.

Ojai Jalapeno Jelly

After much experimentation, Suze McClellan eventually captured and bottled the perfect union of flavors in her pepper jellies. She offers her jellies in two varieties—Ojai Jalapeno and Ojai Habanero. Try using them on vegetables, poultry, pork, fish, tofu or meat to wake up your taste buds!

Rodrigo Gimenez Cocinero

Rodrigo grew up in Argentina and has always had a passion for good food. He lived in different countries and appreciated their cuisines during his career as an architect and has now taken a new journey which suits him well. His variety of empanadas and chimichurri sauce are not to be missed!

Violette Bakeshop

Featuring baked goods and desserts in the style of an American patisserie, Violette Bakeshop—a catering bakery—recreates your favorite childhood sweets with elegant flair. They use only the finest, all natural ingredients such as Madagascar Bourbon vanilla, sweet cream butter, free-range eggs, and Valrhona cocoa to bring you the highest quality desserts possible.

Zaca Ranch Cattle Company

This ranch has been producing quality beef in Santa Barbara since 1937. Their Black Angus beef is all-natural, grass fed with no added hormones. Besides beef, they offer all-natural steak marinades, beef jerky and dog treats.

3835 State Street, Santa Barbara, CA 93105 (805) 569-6913